NATIONAL GUARD NEWS

General Verbeck Announces
Annual Inspection of Militia.

Adjutant General Verbeck announces that the annual inspections and musters of the national guard of the state by army and navy officers, will commence just after January 1 next and will continue until about April 30. One innovation for the coming inspections which is held to be a good one is that brigade inspectors are ordered to accompany and assist the state inspectors in their respective brigades.

In former years brigade inspectors have volunteered their services in some instances, and in other cases they have not volunteered or even been present. The specific order directing them to attend will save embarrassment and will be helpful in prosecuting the inspection work. General Verbeck expresses the hope that the coming inspections will be the best in the history of the guard. Those officers and men who in the past have gloried in putting a Montana peak on the service caps or denting them in according to their fancy will not be permitted to do this at the coming inspections, and it is directed that all hats be worn uniformly, and the use of misshapen or unsightly hats is forbidden. Service shoes must also be worn.

At the annual meeting of the National Guard Association of the United States, to be held at Norfolk, Va., on December 2, 3 and 4, the Hon. Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of War; Major General Leonard Wood and Brigadier General Albert L. Mills, U. S. A., will be present to address the convention. Other officers will read papers and give talks on military matters.

Despite denials from Albany, Major Percival E. Nagle, who was formerly commissary on the staff of Brigadier General George R. Dyer, 1st Brigade, was appointed assistant adjutant general, with rank of lieutenant colonel, on the recommendation of General Verbeck, for duty on the office staff of the general. When the denial as to Nagle's appointment was telegraphed from Albany he had already passed the examining board, and had been commissioned several days. The military law requires that the Governor shall appoint the assistants of the adjutant general upon the recommendation of the adjutant general. The Governor signs the commission of all officers, and could not have been ignorant of Nagle's appointment. It is held. The vacancy of commissary on the 1st Brigade staff caused by the elevation of Major Nagle has not yet been filled, and General Dyer says that he has no one in view at present to fill the vacancy. He also says that Lieutenant Colonel Nagle performed his military duties in the most creditable manner, and that he was one of the best workers he had on his staff. Colonel Nagle takes the place of Lieutenant Colonel C. A. Stimson, appointed adjutant general on the division staff.

Company L, of the 7th Regiment, Captain H. L. Stratton, has organized a riding class, and is fortunate in being able to secure an exceptionally competent instructor in the person of Sergeant McPhee, formerly first sergeant of the 11th United States Cavalry, who has had a wide range of practical experience. The class will take up practice in the armory of the 1st Field Artillery one afternoon each week. The instruction will include military riding, rough riding and training in horsemanship. Outdoor instruction will be held after the class progresses. Work on the interior of the large drill hall is still far from completion, and it may be several months yet before all the improvements are finished. It is hoped, however, that the new galleries will be finished and the seats installed by the first of the coming year, but at the present outlook this seems doubtful. The new galleries will seat over three thousand persons.

The first review in Manhattan this season will be that of the 12th Regiment next Tuesday night in the armory. The reviewing officer will be Brigadier General George R. Dyer, 1st Brigade. Dancing will follow the military ceremonies. The guard for the evening will be charged by Lieutenant Haglin, a comparatively new addition to the commissioned roster of the regiment. Lieutenant Colonel A. D. Porter, recently appointed, has passed the examining board, and has been commissioned.

A review of the 9th Regiment by Brigadier General George R. Dyer will be held next Wednesday night in the armory and a reception will follow. Lieutenant Colonel Percival Edmund Nagle, assistant adjutant general, in uniform of his new office, will be among the military guests. Captain William E. Morris, of Company B, recently elected, has passed the examining board. It is understood that the proceedings of the general court martial in the case of Captain W. B. Stacom, of Company B, have not reached the Governor yet. It was rumored that the Governor had set aside the proceedings of the court on account of a technicality.

The 4th Regiment will be reviewed by Brigadier General John G. Eddy, 2d Brigade, who is acting as division commander, next Wednesday night. A reception will follow. Colonel Barthman has placed Lieutenant George H. Chase in command of Company D, vice Dusenbury resigned, and pending an election for captain. Lieutenant Chase, it is understood, may be elected captain.

A review of the 23d Regiment will be held on Saturday night, December 7, but the reviewing officer had not been selected at last accounts. Company C will hold a smoker in the armory next Saturday night, at which there will also be a vaudeville entertainment. Several promotions were made this week—Lieutenant K. B. Kloor, of Company H, has been appointed captain; First Sergeant Charles C. Enderle, of Company F, has been appointed second lieutenant, and Post Quartermaster Sergeant C. W. Martin has been appointed battalion quartermaster.

The 1st Company of the 13th Regiment, Captain Deane, will arrange a theatre party and dinner some time next month. A review of the regiment will probably be held next month.

Brigadier General John G. Eddy, 2d Brigade, will review the 14th Regiment in its armory next Saturday night, and dancing will follow. Colonel Foote has been presented with a diamond medal by the members of the 14th Regiment camp, U. S. W. V., as a token of esteem.

Interesting exhibitions of engineering work are promised in the 23d Engineers during the present drill season, and each company will be instructed in a special feature of field engineering. Much greater attention will be devoted to engineering this season than ever before, and during some of the reviews features of the work will be exhibited by different companies. Lieutenant Charles H. Smith, who has been acting as regimental commissary, and who was recently appointed commissary, has passed the examining board. He made an excellent record during the Connecticut manoeuvre campaign, and succeeds Henry S. Sternberger, appointed some time since to the division staff.

Major Campbell T. Hamilton, ordnance officer, 2d Brigade staff, recently appointed from aid, has passed the brigade board.

Captain Hugh D. Wise, U. S. A., on duty as an inspector-instructor with the troops of the state, will give an interesting lecture at the Army and Navy Club, Saturday night, December 7.

A WATCH OF RARE BEAUTY.

The horse show in Madison Square Garden each year has become an international event, attracting attention in many parts of the world. A unique influence of this annual display of blue bloods and blue ribbons became known upon the arrival in this country last week of M. Oscar Fresard, of Lucerne, who brought with him a watch of wonderful design and workmanship, the creation of which was inspired by his former visits to our horse show.

The princely timepiece is jewelled with three rows of Oriental rubies, perfectly matched in color and cutting; one row on obverse and reverse sides and one on the outer edge. With enamel as his medium, an artist of rare ability has painted on the back of the watch the heads of two horses. The watch contains a set of chimes that strike the hour, quarter-hour and minute. It is about as thick as a silver dollar and can truly be termed a "jewel of great price."

LAKEWOOD

Many Week-End Parties Add to the Gayety of the Resort.

Lakewood, N. J., Nov. 23.—The Women's Aid Society of the All Saints' Memorial Church have completed their plans for the annual charity bazaar next month. The various committees include Mrs. George J. Gould, Mrs. W. A. Hamilton, Mrs. Jasper Lynch, Mrs. A. Macdonell and Mrs. F. A. Fott, who will preside at the fancy table. The Dutch table will be in charge of Mrs. Lewis B. Stillwell and Mrs. Ferris G. Bergen. The lingerie table will be presided over by Mrs. E. M. Horne, Mrs. W. Willock, Mrs. William Thaw and Mrs. W. Roland. Other members of society who are interesting themselves include Mrs. Frank Tilford, Miss Tilford, Mrs. Shepherd K. de Forest, Mrs. Girard Romaine, Mrs. Arthur E. Whitney and the Misses Downer. There will be the usual decorations and an interesting musical programme is being arranged for.

W. W. Willock, of Pittsburgh and Lakewood, is showing several of his horses at the horse show this week. Mrs. John R. Fell was a week-end guest of her father, P. S. P. Randolph. The return of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lloyd Herbert to their residence here is anticipated after the horse show.

Mr. and Mrs. George Clews were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Lynch at Lynch Hall over the week end. Georgian Court was a scene of much gayety over the week end. Mr. and Mrs. George J. Gould had as their guests several officers of the British team who are here for the horse show.

The beautiful weather brought out many horseback riders during the week. Among those noticed on the bridge path were Mrs. E. M. Horne, Miss Emily Randolph, the Misses Horne, W. W. Willock, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Shanley, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Gilbert, the Misses Siltz, Schley and Anderson and Messrs. N. J. Flynn, H. C. Kane and N. B. Taylor.

The Country Club continues to be the favorite rendezvous and visitors to the cottage colony and visitors to the hotel. The club always well filled over the week end, and many informal tea parties are being given. Great preparations are being made for the Thanksgiving ing tournament which will be held this week, commencing Thursday, and continuing the following Friday and Saturday. The cups for the various events are on display at the clubhouse now, and are the most attractive ever given by the club. The entry list includes such names as W. J. Travis, of Philadelphia; H. W. Perrine, of Philadelphia, who was the medalist last year; A. W. Tillingshast, the Atlantic City champion; Oswald Kirkby, C. H. Brown and many others, which means that the first division will bring out some great match plays in semi-final and final rounds.

Richard W. Forrest, of Philadelphia, entertained about forty friends at a dinner dance at the Country Club, over the week end. The party motored down from New York and Philadelphia to the Laurel House, going over to the Yale game at Princeton Saturday and returning that night to the Country Club for dinner. Among those who were the guests of Mr. Forrest were Mr. and Mrs. James E. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Howell, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Elliman, Mr. and Mrs. Wheaton Vaughan, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Barnum, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Dana, Miss Beatrice A. Pratt, Miss Anna L. Cutler, Mrs. Littlefield, Mr. and Mrs. Pearce, and Messrs. Eaton Henry, Edward Sands, Gardner Gilsey and Charles Levy.

Dean W. L. Robbins, of the Episcopal Seminary, of New York, and Edmund Smith are stopping at the Country Club for the week end. George E. Cutler, of Chester, Penn., motored over from Philadelphia with a party of friends, including W. H. Stoecker, H. H. Houston and J. E. Lumberton, and will remain for a week's sojourn.

Others registered at the club include Messrs. A. C. Moore, C. W. Vaughan, James Barnes, Walter Hale, Wilfred North, J. A. Blair, G. L. Warren and J. H. Smith.

ON THE PACIFIC SLOPE

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]
San Francisco, Nov. 23.—The proposed charter amendments which will increase largely the bonded indebtedness of San Francisco have called attention to what would be the future tax rate of this city. The tax rate has increased from $1.075 in 1902 to $2.65 this year, and a careful estimate shows that, with the additions made by the new amendments, the rate for next year will be $3.05, and that by 1920 the rate will have increased to $2.56 on the hundred. This outlook is alarming, and it is doubtful if the amendments, which soon will be submitted to popular vote, will be adopted. San Francisco before the fire was noted as the only big city in this country with almost no bonded indebtedness. It was fortunate that its debt was nominal, for had it been otherwise there would have been no hope of rehabilitation after the crushing losses by the fire and earthquake.

Sir Thomas Lipton has excited much enthusiasm here by his hearty support of the 1915 exposition. The greatest aid that he has given to the fair is his challenge to the world to race a new yacht in San Francisco waters during the exposition. Sir Thomas hopes to induce the yachtsmen of Europe to hold the international meet for that year. Whether he succeeds in this or not, his challenge will certainly aid greatly to the interest of the exposition regatta. This was Sir Thomas's first visit to San Francisco, and he was much pleased with the climate, the people and the advantages for sailing in and around San Francisco Bay. He was given so hearty a reception that he had barely time for necessary sleep.

The Rev. Charles F. Aked this week demonstrated his ability as a raiser of money for church work by obtaining in one day $72.20 for the erection of a new edifice for the First Congregational Church, of which he assumed the pastorate on leaving New York two years ago. Dr. Aked's idea is to have a church which will combine the facilities of a meeting house on Sunday and a social club and rally ground for the members and their friends on week days. His plans include a restaurant, clubrooms, bathrooms, gymnasium, free library and reading and lecture rooms. In brief, Dr. Aked wishes to make the church a social and religious centre, whose influence will not be limited to mere meetings on Sundays and the prescribed week day services. The new church will be built in the downtown district, near the main hotels and office buildings.

At Mare Island this week the flag was lowered on the old frigate Independence, the oldest ship in the United States navy. The keel of the Independence was laid just one hundred years ago, at Boston, and though the ship has seen much service, her timbers are still sound. What will be done with her is still undetermined. The officers of the Panama Exposition are anxious to secure the historic vessel as an exhibit in 1915, and the Native Sons have made application for the preservation of the ship, which was intimately associated with the early history of the state.

The estate of the old millionaire, "Lucky" Baldwin, was closed this week at Los Angeles. It amounted to more than any one anticipated, for the executors were able to turn over to the two daughters of the dead horseman $200,000 in real estate and securities. Much of this fine showing was due to the increase in value of lands near Los Angeles which Baldwin bought for a small sum an acre, and which, since his death, have been divided into villa plots at high prices. The Santa Anita ranch, which was Baldwin's pride, is entailed to his grand children. It consists of 15,000 acres near Los Angeles, and it includes one of the finest orange groves in Southern California.

It is hoped to attain state aid for building a fine highway into the big basin in the Santa Cruz Mountains, so that the large redwood trees in this section may be within reach of the city during the exposition. The distance is only about seventy miles, but at present there is no direct road. Much of the forest in the big basin is primeval, and the trees are second in size only to the giant sequoia of the Sierra Nevada near Yosemite.

ATLANTIC CITY

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 23.—Fifty prominent matrons whose presence will give the big function social tone have been selected to act as patronesses for Atlantic City's first Thanksgiving ball, which is to be held on the Steel Pier on the evening of the 28th, under the auspices of Atlantic City Forest, Tall Cedars of Lebanon.

Interest in the ball is greater than has been manifested in any social affair given
